The 1st Hellenic Robotics Forum will be held in Athens, Greece, and is organized by HERON CoE through the Robotics Institute of Athena Research Center. It will serve as a scientific venue for the presentation and discussion of research in Robotics in the era of Artificial Intelligence. The Forum brings together researchers from academia and industry, as well as members of the Greek scientific diaspora, fostering knowledge exchange and contributing to brain gain within the Hellenic robotics community. It will include keynotes, paper posters and spotlights, thematic panels, and exhibition demos.

Technical Scope: We invite submissions on topics including, but not limited to:

- Field and Space Robotics
- Healthcare and Social Robotics
- Marine and Maritime Robotics
- Safety and Security Robotics
- Multimodal Robot Perception
- Human Robot Interaction
- AI and Machine Learning for Robotics

An Industry 4.0 course will be run in parallel to the Forum.

Location: Eugenides Foundation, 11 Pentelis str., P. Faliro, Athens, Greece.

Call for papers: Authors are invited to submit electronically in English up to 2-page summaries of papers that have already been published or accepted for publication in conferences, and journals. Papers will be accepted based on novelty, quality, and relevance, and will be presented as posters. Selected papers will also be presented as spotlights.

Posters of all accepted papers will be compiled in the Forum Proceedings.

Awards will be announced and presented to the student authors of the three best student papers during the HRF closing session.

Abstract Submission Deadline: April 15, 2026
